Science Programs

APEGGA presents two programs for young science buffs, celebrating National Engineering and Geoscience Week, February 26-March 6, 2005:

Thursday, March 3: HOW MANY BOOKS CAN BE STACKED ON AN EGG WITHOUT BREAKING THE EGG? Children ages 7- 12 and parents or adult caregivers are invited to find out in The Reading Castle starting at 7 p.m. An APEGGA member will demonstrate the strength of the everyday egg and talk about various kinds of structures. This is a drop-in program, no registration is required but children must be accompanied by a parent or adult caregiver please.

Thursday, March 10: BUILD YOUR OWN MINIATURE WIND MILL. Parents are invited to register their children ages 8-12 starting March 1. Group size is limited. FREE. All supplies provided by APEGGA. Each child must be accompanied during the program by a parent or adult caregiver, maximum of two children per adult please. The program takes place in the Reading Castle from 7- 8:30 p.m.
