

Director, Compliance

Our client is recognized as one of the leading self-governing professional associations in Canada and plays a significant role in protecting the public interest in Alberta. Reporting to the Deputy Registrar and working closely with the Enforcement Review Committee, the Director, Compliance provides strategic leadership in the investigation of nonregistered and nonqualified individuals and corporations to ensure resolution and compliance with the provisions of the EGGP Act.

Competitive candidates will have diverse professional experience, ideally including exposure to a regulatory environment, and be results-oriented. Highly developed strategic-thinking, analytical, change leadership and team-building abilities, as well as strong people, investigative, negotiation, conflict resolution, communication, and administrative skills, are essential. Active participation on boards and committees would also be advantageous. Registration with APEGGA, or eligibility, is required.

Rewards of this challenging Edmonton-based position include competitive compensation and benefits, attractive career growth prospects, and an opportunity to make an important contribution to the professions. To explore this opportunity, please forward a resume of your experience and accomplishments to APEGGA, in care of Dr. Jerry Long or contact him at:
